Full version only

If you stay, December turns magic: the wild nature of the Pacific, Christmas with a Cali family and the city's biggest party.

- Pacific (21–24): boat, jungle, sea and the warmth of the Afro-Colombian community
- Christmas together on the 24th: dinner and celebration in Cali, like home
- Feria de Cali (25–27): orchestras, salsódromo and the whole city dancing

The Feria de Cali (25–30 Dec) is the biggest salsa festival in the world: the Salsódromo —a parade of thousands of dancers—, floats and live orchestras. The whole city takes to the streets to dance.

Included in the full trip • €2,200

THE CLASSES

Cali salsa, in its schools and at its own pace

Where this style was born. From 8 hours in the week to 14 hours on the full trip, with local teachers from Cali: technique, musicality and that flavour you only learn here. By day you rehearse the steps; by night you take them to the socials and discover you no longer think, you just dance.

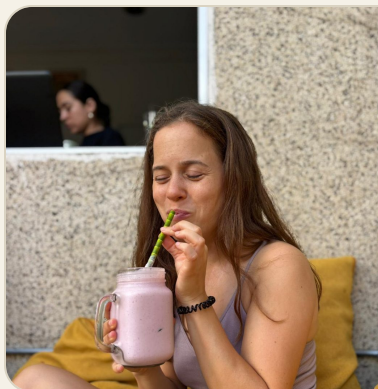

WHO'S BEHIND IT

Hi, I'm Barbi

A year ago a relationship ended in which I gave everything I was. I lost myself. I lived in Amsterdam, the weather was bad, and the more it rained, the more I cried. Many months passed until one day, doing a journaling exercise, I was asked to imagine five possible lives; in one I wrote: salsa dancer. Why not move towards that?

I signed up for classes five minutes from home and a few months later I was living in Cali. There I found people, streets, music and a freer, happier version of me: I felt reborn.

I'm a tour guide and this itinerary is made on foot: everything here is here because I've lived it. This trip exists this way because I needed it too.

AND I DON'T COME ALONE

Seline

The English-speaking accomplice of our bilingual group and the one who, behind the scenes, makes sure everything goes well. The kind who turns a group of strangers into a family.
